M Established in 1979, we have built a solid reputation for delivering fully implemented, mining and mineral processing projects across a wide range of sectors. Primary focus of our efforts is the responsible and sustainable exploitation of the mineral resources in Saudi Arabia. This means that we value our human capital as one of our highest value levers as we believe that people are capable of increasing production and revenue and improving cost efficiencies.

...across different mineral sectors

While traditionally known for its gold mines we have also expanded our interest into the mining extraction and processing of Phosphate, Bauxite/Aluminum Magnesite and Kaolin. Ma'aden currently has four key business areas:

- Ø Gold and Base Metals
- Ø The Phosphate Project with joint venture partner SABIC
- Ø The Aluminum Project with joint venture partner Alcoa
- Ø Industrial Minerals- including magnesite, kaolin, low grade bauxite, garnet, chlor vinyl operating in different geographies

Our mines and processing plants are located across the full extent of the Saudi Arabian landscape, from Arar in the North to Jeddah in the South and from Ras-az-Khair in the East to Medina in the West with the Headquarters in the central part of the Kingdom in Riyadh.

Our approach

Ma'aden has located and proven a number of significant mineral deposits in the Kingdom. These deposits form the basis of our strategy to develop and build world class mines and mineral processing plants to utilize methodologies that are suitable to meet our unique challenges. We believe in focusing on achieving the identified key performance indicators (KPIs), thereby achieving our results. Our team-oriented approach is about production teams working hand-in-hand with maintenance and support teams to ensure that we continually improve our internal systems and processes to achieve better business results.

Overall we:

- ◀ Focus on what really counts.

Quickly identify the key strategic and operational improvement drivers that make or break our business and focus on them without losing sight of the important part that our people play

- ◀ Deliver fully implemented results.

Our strong and pragmatic approach ensures a robust and disciplined approach to identifying, implementing, delivering and achieving the KPIs that result in sustainable improvements.

- ◀ Coach and build ownership.

We believe in supporting and coaching line managers to deliver measurable results. Positive results turn mediocre people into champions who take ownership for resolving problems and turning challenges into opportunities.

How is it different from other companies?

Unlike other mining companies and what truly sets us apart, is that we focus on maximizing our competitive advantage by utilizing the skills and experience of our people. Our managers understand that their management role remains focused on achieving the best from their teams as a part of their daily jobs and coaching their teams on how to deliver improved results as part of their daily routine.

This requires our managers to roll up their sleeves and provide significant assistance to their teams to ensure that work output is sustained. Their teams do more than do their job for them; this is a subtle but critical distinction in the way our managers deliver results. This unique approach ensures constant skills transfer of the how required to generate and sustain the production from our mines and processing plants
